ORAL ORDER
(Passed on 21st June, 2006)

In these writ petitions, the complaint of the petitioners is that though the bid offered by them was the lowest, contract was not awarded to them. These writ petitions have become infructuous. The term of the contract itself expired on 31-03-2006. At this distance of time, no effective relief could be granted to the petitioners. Moreover, it is not the law that the lowest bidders should always prefer in the matter of awarding contracts. Such a right in the petitioners cannot be culled out from the tender documents. These writ petitions are, therefore, dismissed. No costs.
